Just A Little Town

They came to Bethlehem by night,
Just a little town
With narrow, crooked little streets
Running up and down.

No one to welcome them -
Doors were barred for the night,

And all within the little town
Slept - till morning light.

The wayside inn — oh, let us knock.
Keeper, please, your door unlock,
We're tired and weary — have travelled far.
No room — no room — I know not whom you are.
Oh — wait — look!
There's the manger,
It's empty — rest therein.

Oh, little town of Bethlehem,
How poor your welcoming.

The people slept — the wise men came,
Whispering the Messiah's name,
And shepherds, too, from the hillside steep.
Oh, little town — how can you sleep?

“Glory to God — peace, good Will to earth we bring.”
And wise men came and left their gifts
So precious and so rare,
And in your manger lies
The Holy Babe so fair.

Oh, little town — when morning came
The people softly stepped,
And knelt in adoration
Where Christ, the Messiah slept.
